From the Editor

Hello again everyone,

As I settle further into my role at the Messenger, I want to say how grateful I am for the kind words and encouragement I've received since last month's introduction. It's been a real example of what makes Templecombe such a special place: a community that genuinely cares about staying connected and supporting one another.

With that in mind, I'd love to hear more from you. The Messenger should be shaped by the people who read it, and I'm keen to make sure that this happens. So if you have ideas, suggestions, or even small sparks of inspiration—topics you'd like covered, local stories worth sharing, or features you think would be useful—please do get in touch. Your voices and experiences can help keep this publication alive and relevant.

This month I am announcing the launch of something new: a free classified advertisements and announcements section for parishioners. This new section will include: items for sale, items wanted and family announcements etc. I hope it becomes a practical and friendly way for neighbours to support one another.

Thank you again for welcoming me so warmly into this role. I'm excited to see where we can take the Messenger together as the year unfolds.

Michael Bird

Thoughts for July

As I write, the World Cup has just started. By the time this article is published, there will have been 78 matches out of a total of 104. We will know how England have fared in Group L and whether they are through to the last 32 of the 48 teams that started. The pressure on the players and manager to 'bring it home' after 50 years is immense. How do they cope with it? Times when everything seems to be going to pieces, criticism from 'fans'? How do we cope with the stress of disappointment and loss?

Saka, Eze, Guehi and Toney have a strong faith in a God who is always there.
Who will guide, sustain, anchor and hold us through good times and bad. Who loves us more than we could ever hope or imagine. The culture that Southgate imbued to his players has been noticeable and admirable – their humility, care for each other, inclusiveness and willingness to stand up against injustice.

The Bible says that as we invite God into our lives and walk with Him, we display love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control- the 'fruit of the Spirit'. How would it change our world if more people displayed these qualities? If our countries were led by people who lived by these values?

So as you experience the highs and lows of England's performance, or the frustration of disrupted TV schedules, as you enjoy the delicious summer fruits, perhaps you may find a moment to reflect on where God might be.

It is our prayer that God's love and the fruit of his Spirit will become evermore evident in our community.

Transport For All

Seeking help !

The CATBus offers transport for anyone who needs it in Wincanton, Castle Cary, Bruton, Templecombe and surrounding villages. Alongside the bus service we are pleased to be able to help patients get to medical appointments, locally and further afield with the help of our lovely volunteer 'social car' drivers.
Bookings are dealt with by the CATBus office and we ring or email our volunteers to see who is available to help.

Volunteers are under no obligation to accept any booking and are paid 50 pence per mile for the trip. There is no additional cost for insurance and parking is free at hospitals where the 'Parking Eye' is employed.

All our volunteers have told us that this is not only a vital service for some members of the community but also an extremely fulfilling and rewarding experience.

Bookings for this service have increased greatly and we need more volunteers to help out. Would you be able to spare some time once a week, or once a month?
For more details please contact the CATBus office in the Balsam Centre, Wincanton between 09.30 to 12.20pm on weekdays, or call:

How to Solve a Sudoku

Sudoku looks complex at first glance, but the solving method is straightforward once you know what to look for. Each row, column, and 3×3 box must contain the numbers 1 to 9 exactly once, so the first step is to scan for “singles” — places where only one number can logically fit. From there, solvers use simple elimination: if a number already appears in a row, column, or box, it can’t go in any other cell that touches it. More advanced techniques involve spotting patterns, such as pairs of numbers that can only occupy two cells in a box, or identifying where a number must go because all other positions are blocked. The puzzle unfolds gradually, and the key is not speed but steady, logical deduction. With practice, even the trickier grids become manageable.
